Guest Researcher Program for Young Researchers

In line with its Guest Researcher Program the CRC 649 "Economic Risk" is offering up to five short term stays for young researchers .

Assistance is given in form of financial support to young researchers whose aim it is to further an empirical or quantitative research project as a guest of the CRC 649 in Berlin. Travel costs, lodging and a per diem sum for a stay ranging from two weeks to three months can be provided. The actual amount will be decided by the coordinators of the CRC 649.

Guest researchers are expected to utilize data and other resources provided by the CRC 649's Research Data Center or to develop algorithms or data distributed by the RDC. Support is based on the completion of at least one paper to be distributed as an CRC 649 discussion paper within a maximum of six months after the visit.

Applicants should be no more than 40 years old and submit a Curriculum Vitae as well as a short proposal (no more than two pages). The proposal should state explicitly the planned time frame, the RDC data to be used for the research project as well as other required support and resources.
